

Brett Rabbiner

I am an ambitious, organized engineering student with a passion for innovation and creativity. I believe to think critically is to solve critical problems, recognizing patterns and drawing connections to achieve optimal results. I am a positive, open-minded, and results-driven individual who understands the importance of effective communication, collaboration, and flexibility within a successful, professional environment.

EXPERIENCE

Learning Express, Blue Bell, PA — Retail Associate

July 2021 - January 2022

Bailey Brand Marketing, Fort Washington, PA — Intern

May 2022 - June 2022

- Closely collaborated with and shadowed the Creative Director to obtain an in-depth understanding of a top brand-marketing firm
- Attended team meetings as an active participant
- Directly worked on logo design for a client's product, presenting numerous options to my assigned team
- Assisted on set during the filming of a short commercial

Resource Central, Boulder, CO — Lawn Crew

May 2024 - August 2024

- Worked intently and efficiently with crew members to assist customers in beginning the zero-scaping process
- Readily promoted other resource saving services provided by Resource Central while engaging fully with the non-profit mission
- Directly contributed to the 12.6 million gallons of water saved since 2016, and to the thousands of dollars customers will save

University of Colorado Boulder, Boulder, CO — Student Researcher

January 2025- September 2025

- Working in conjunction with fellow students under the direction of Dr. Shaz Zamore
- Utilizing established research done by Stanford and other universities, we are exploring the ability to measure cortisol levels from small amounts of sweat in the hopes of developing a wearable device for children to monitor stress both accurately and inconspicuously

The North Face, Boulder, CO — Sales Associate

October 2024 - April 2025, September 2025 - Present

- Effective communication and cohesive workflow with the team and customers forming valuable connections with each customer, constantly improving upon my sales skills
- Tracked stock and relevant metrics daily as a leading sales associate
- Possessed a deep understanding of our product and its relevance in order to answer questions and to draw connections between product and customer in an effort to make sales
